Global Possibilities

AISD's annual conference brings together leaders in education, teachers, researchers, parents, dyslexia therapists, advocates and other professionals to learn how to best prepare students with dyslexia to develop their strengths, overcome their obstacles and be prepared for global possibilities. Putting research into practice, equipping educators with the knowledge and resources they need, and incorporating a strengths-based approach is critical in helping students build the motivation, resilience and self-confidence needed to reach their full potential in the classroom and beyond.
